THE use of that extremely valuable Food and Remedy EXTRACT OF MALT has been setarded by its usually viscid condition; to obviate this objection we have had prepared a FLUID EXTRACT OF MALT as easily poured out of the bottle and measured into doses as any other Fluid.

It contains as much of the DIASTASE as any viscid EXTRACT OF MALT and is therefore fully as active in tissue forming and digestive power.

Two tablespoonfuls of our FLUID EXTRACT OF MALT contain more putritive and digestive value than a pint of the strongest Ale or Stout. In 1 lb. bettles 75 cents. Per dozen $8.00. Hongkong, 12th January, 1893.

THE "Vanishing Act" has been out of fashion | heavy, lately, because there is now hardly any money in the Colony to vanish with, and because most people have in utter despair given up suing their debtors; so that there is nothing to induce people to bolt, unless it may be the desire to escape, from O'Brien's too "flattering compliments to the Colony and the people in it. Also, there is now, we believe, on most of the steamers a preventive service (on the lines of the opium and the piracy prevention business) to spot levanters and nip them in the bud, so to speak. THE Clan MacSmeltem bas been on the warpath again. Our esteemed chum Whooper, of that ilk, is a bit of a dog-fancier in his way, and Jury breed. Somehow the pair of them (and they | with the best of them a month hence. inst do make a pair i) got separated; probably the quadruped couldn't stand the biped. One of them got run in, and put in the pound at West Point, and his twin-brother had of course to pay the usual fee to get him out again. It is not known whether it was the Shellback Swooper or the other animal that got run in. It seems more natural to suppose that it was the four-footer, because the other one would have been shot or strangled or poisoned for rables, not impounded; besides, even if he had been kept in durance vile, surely nobody would pay a cent to get him out, but rather pay a good deal to have him kept in, and served as bait to the Tytam Tiger-preity rough on "the tiger ! On the other hand, if the above considerations have weight, proving that it must have been the genuine tyke that was run in, it is hard to understand The Scooper parting with coin, even to release his own brother, and it is dead certain that he did not work the chit dodge. However, the fact remains that both Whooper and his spotted dawg are now once more turned loose on a know whether he eyer did get a wash, or approprinted the fund to some other purpose, but he most likely kept it in a stocking-if he had one,

SPORTING NOTES.

The entries for the Hongkong Jockey Club Meeting of 1803 closed this afternoon and judging from what has been going on at the race-course for the past month, I am sorely afraid they will compare unfavorably with the returns of previous years, As regards the griffles some good racing may with some degree of confidence be looked for, but in the old, established events for the 'cracks" the opposition is exceedgly limited. The Ewo stable has Vagrant, Talisman, and Merry-thought; Mr. Buxey has Home Guard, Bold Heart and Royalty : Mr. Sassoon, representing Mr. Frederick (a well-known Shanghai "Sport" who could once hold his own in the pigakin with the best of themsaw bim win the Wong-nei-chong on Pontiff so far back as 1877) will send out Majestic and Borril, and he has also the handsome flatcatcher Thunderbolt-and that is all, unless the Amoy and Foochow contingents have sent some o their racers down at the eleventh hour.

From the foregoing it; will be seen that the old pony races will not attract large fields, but so far as I can learn, the Subscription Griffins as always has been the case with the "Subs," to produce good racing and save the Hongkong Races from getting back to the dull level of lwenty years ago, when two competitors usually formed the field of the property and the

A subscription griffin belonging to the leading Amoy "sport" made an excellent show in a far as butiness is concerned; for if all mile "pow" with one of Mr. Derick's, the of visitors to Japan will be quadruple but this performance was completely eclipsed those of any previous year. Home Guard's times this morning were 37, 731 I.51, and 2.23%.

THE "OORIYA"

It may be within the recollection of our readers that nearly a year ago the Straits Steamship Company sent to Hongkong the old paddle-boat suffering community, and that the transaction | Cortya, formerly a British India boat under the made a hole in the ten dollars which we so same name, then in the Netherlands India willingly contributed; some months ago towards | Company's service as the Cheribon, and last in having our pet Juryman washed. On her arrival here, we stated on what seemed reliable authority that a Chinese firm had offered $20,000 for her, for the Canton siver trade; that Messrs. Butterfield and Swire's compradore cut in, representing some private combination, and bought her at the same figure for, the Hollow pig trade; and that probably at least $20,000 more would be required to put her in order. Further, Mr. John Mitchell, who was then estensibly in the employ of Mesers. Butterfield & Swire, had been sent on board for some reason or other by somebody. The vessel turned out to be in such a bad state of decay that those who had sailed in her thought themselves exceedingly lucky to be safe on shore. Since then, the Oorlya has been lying in Yau-

THE "CAROUSE" OF THE "KINGFISHER!" A YACHTING . REMINISCENCE ..

Not very many years ago the hospitable nautical experiences. The craft was lying off Murray Wharf and we embasked in proper form, the dingy having been placed at the disposal of adventurous searchers for knowledge (ahem 1). Our passenger list, in addition to the jovial owner and his son, a smart and a gentleman popularly known as "The Laird of Lamiash," who had something cial on board the well-known local clipper Victor Emanuel. The Laird was invited to. accompany the expedition as chief navigator on account of his presumed experience in piloting the vessel he belonged to through the narrow waters which surround Hongkong. After some delay caused by the unpunctuality of one of he amateur mariners, who gave as an excuse that his boy had been slow in dressing him, the anchor was holsted and the good ship Kingfisher. shaped her course for the entrance to the Capton river, the smart little craft doing an easy roknets immediately after getting under way. The owner, who, in poetic phrase, 'had'em all on,' acted as Commodore, the youngster playing the part of middy as if to the manner born. In the meantime care had to be taken to prevent her swinging broadside on to the jetty when the flood tide made, and for this purpose the assistant pilot ran out the kedge from the stern; the first pull on the hawser to make it tight brought the anchor home and we consequently had to get one of the large anchors from the bows. After this precaption had been completed there was nothing to be done but to wait for the turn of the tide. A Chinese gunboat was now seen to be at anchor about two miles above us and it occurred to the writer that we might ask for assistance in the shape of towage should the vessel fall to float in the morning, so I accordingly started in the rudderless dingy with two men to pull and in half an hour reached the man-of-war. but only just in time to escape a tremendous rain squall. their methods, or as to the individual motives of their advocates, but none can deny that each sect in its own way aims at the ultimate benefit of all mankind. Why, then, should one particular class be singled out for abuse-is it only because that class alone does not retaliate?

Missionaries in China are men and women. with their fair share of the evils that the flesh is heir to. They believe in Christianity, at least as sircerely as the followers of other creeds believe in their professed dectripes. In this faith, they are bidden to "Go into sall the world, and preach the gospel to every creature." It is not for them to dispute, or say that first they should stay at home until every soul is completely won over there; it would be base in them to urge that in China they cannot make any headway; they are not told to use their own judgment as to whether Confucius did or did not teach as good things as Christ, nor as to the need or utility of trying to uproof Buddhs. They have their orders, and they try, as well as the average man tries, to carry them out implicitly. A few are black sheep, and almost all are utterly unable to achieve anything great in the conversion of Chinese; but what of that ? Judas himself was a fraud, and many of the early apostles must have thought it absolutely impossible to convert the world, or even a few of its inhabitants. After living many years in Sodom, Lot was unable to find a single man on his tile. But none the less, there is the command-Go into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.

Some of the mis ionaries have large houses and many servants; but not many. Look at dress, living in Chinese style, slaving to teach the ignorant natives not only religion but the more pratical utilities of modern civilisation; healing the sick, helping the poor, killing themselves in a few years. These noble men and women are not known to dwellers in the coast ports, who thus do them a grievous it justice through the "fallacy of non-observation,"

Three few facts I wish to record in fairness to those who cannot defend themselves. I am not one of the missionaries, nor of their friends; I do not even believe in their doctrines. But that is no resson why they should not receive fair
